

Sadie Chalkley Election Statement for General Synod

In my retailing life which has spanned forty years my philosophy has embodied a profound sense of helping others when need is apparent. I have stuck to these principles rigidly in the knowledge and belief that my modest business genuinely matters to the people I seek to help.

I spent nearly 20 years as a magistrate and again that work was important to me particularly helping young people.

I was a non executive director of a private bank, have been President of my National Trade Association elected by my peers.

I have been a teacher, librarian, Sunday School teacher in Malaysia and locally I willingly undertook Church Warden duties over 30 years in two different churches.

Inevitably I have been called upon to chair and host countless events over the years. I would be pleased to be elected to General Synod - it matters to me to carry out duties with diligence and enthusiasm.
